The mean of 'Total-Number-Of-Steps-Taken-Per-Day' is 10766.19

The median of 'Total-Number-Of-Steps-Taken-Per-Day' is 10766.19

Answer:

1) We can see that the histogram is similar for data without NA and imputing missing data except at the middle of the histogram, where it has more count for data with imputing missing data which is obvious since we "add" more data by substitute NA with mean value.

2) The "mean value" doesn't differ from the value estimates from first part of the assignment, this is due to NA values were replaced with the mean value calculated from the data with NA ignored. However, for the "median value", it shifted slightly to bigger value.

3) Generally, imputing missing data will not impact or cause much changes to the output provided the missing data is imputed reasonably.

Are there differences in activity patterns between weekdays and weekends?
